

Sugar Has Fulfilled Projections for Drop to 8.60/SB;

Forecast for Sharp Decline into May 2007 Nearly Complete!
Major Low Possible in May 2007!

01/04/06 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) remains on track for an advance into Feb. 2006 that has been projected to 'carry Sugar into the teens'. It has already tested its first upside target - at 13.96 - 14.13/SB - but has the potential to surge much higher in the coming weeks...the next wave objective is not until 17.40/SB."

01/31/06 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) has almost perfectly fulfilled its analysis from mid-2005 for 'an advance into Feb. 2006' to 'carry Sugar into the teens'. It has spiked above its second wave objective at 17.40/SB but is expected to see an intermediate top take hold soon."

02/28/06 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) has perfectly fulfilled its analysis from mid-2005 for 'an advance into Feb. 2006' to 'carry Sugar into the teens'. It topped on February 3rd and has retraced ever since."

05/31/06 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) has confirmed a top and is expected to drop quickly to 13.75 - 14.70/SBN. Intermediate downside targets come into play at 11.15/SBN and then 8.00 - 8.30/SBN."

06/29/06 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) further confirmed its projected top for February 2006 and fulfilled analysis to "drop quickly to 13.75 - 14.70/SBN". It spiked to 14.57/SBN and has rebounded ever since. Look for intermediate resistance at 16.70 - 17.10/SBV. Additional, downside targets come into play at 11.15/SB and then 8.00 - 8.30/SB."

07/31/06 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) spiked to intermediate resistance at 16.70 - 17.10/SBV and then reversed lower, again reinforcing its projected February 2006 peak. It has dropped back into its initial downside target - at 13.75-14.70/SB - and could see a 1-2 week rebound before entering a new intermediate decline. Additional downside targets come into play at 11.15/SB and then 8.00 - 8.30/SB."

08/31/06 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) has nearly reached its 2nd downside target - at 11.15/SB - and could ultimately drop as low as 8.00 - 8.30/SB."

01/31/07 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) is dropping to new lows, ushering in the next phase of its overall projected decline to 8.60/SB (from its February 2006 cycle high). At the very least, Sugar should spike below its Sept. 2006 low of 9.70/SB and fulfill the minimum necessary for a 5th wave decline. Late-March/early-April is the 'ideal' time - from a cycle basis - for an intermediate low. A major low could wait until May 2007."

02/28/07 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) is in what could be the final phase of its overall projected decline to 8.60/SB (from its February 2006 cycle high). At the very least, Sugar should spike below its Sept. 2006 low of 9.70/SB and fulfill the minimum necessary for a 5th wave decline. A major low could be seen in May 2007."

03/29/07 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) remains in what could be the final phase of its overall projected decline to 8.60/SB (from its February 2006 cycle high). At the very least, Sugar should spike below its Sept. 2006 low of 9.70/SB and fulfill the minimum necessary for a 5th wave decline. A major low could be seen in May 2007. Much talk is now focusing on sugar cane's use as an energy source, so it would not be surprising to see a new bull market coincide with a new upturn in energy prices."

04/29/07 INSIIDE Track: "Sugar (World #11) has fulfilled almost everything expected of it since its February 2006 cycle high. It dropped to its major downside target - at 8.60/SB - and has declined into (almost) May 2007, when a major low is most likely. The stage is set and I will now be watching for signs of a short-term, then intermediate, then longer-term reversal higher.

As mentioned before, sugar cane's use as a growing energy source is likely to play a key role in the next bull market. 1-3 month & 3-6 month traders can buy October 2007 Sugar futures at xxxxxxxxxx." [Specific Trading Strategies Reserved for Current Subscribers Only.]
